III. GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS ON THE MODELS AND NAVIGATING IN EXCEL

1. To ensure that any changes properly flow through the COS Model, all Excel workbooks—Exhibits 3, 4, and 5 — should be open while any data changes are being performed. As previously described, NMGC's COS Model consists of these three workbooks. These workbooks are linked, although there are several data points related to accumulated deferred income tax balances, income taxes, and the capital budget that are hard-coded.
2. Exhibit 3 contains the Company-calculated Cost of Revenue Requirement and RDA. This Exhibit pulls data from Exhibit 4 and Exhibit 5 and makes subsequent calculations within the COS Summary.
3. Exhibit 4 and Exhibit 5 are organized as follows: after the lead sheets, there are several tabs with names that include WP COS Inputs, which provide data directly to the COS Summary. After these COS Inputs tabs, there are Workpapers denoted as "WP" and 630 Schedules that are relevant for calculating the COS Inputs and the Revenue Requirement. The explanations for all "material changes", as that term is used in 17.1.3.17(A) NMAC, between the Adjusted Base Period and the Future Test Period are provided in Exhibit 4 in the tab denoted as "Notes", and in Exhibit 5 in the tab "WP 2 OM 630 Sched H1 OM Summary".

NEW MEXICO GAS COMPANY, INC.

Instructions for Working With and In the Cost of Service Functional Model

4. The "Lead Sheets" are shaded green; COS Inputs, blue; WP's, purple; 630 Schedules, gold.
5. In order to trace links from "COS Summary" or "630 Schedule A-5.1" in Exhibit 3 to either Exhibit 4 Rate Base or Exhibit 5 Operations Expense, press "Ctrl" + "[". This will take you directly to the linked number in the applicable worksheet or Excel file. Note: if a cell input has links to multiple cells, the then "Ctrl" + "[" shortcut will only take you to the first referenced linked cell.
6. In order to see how certain cells or groups of cells are affected by other cells, users can utilize Excel's "Trace Dependents" or "Trace Precedents" functions. These functions are in the Formulas menu in the Excel ribbon and allows users to trace the relationship between data points. Users should click on the cell they want to trace and then click the trace precedent or trace dependent button.
7. In addition, cells have been identified as being hard coded (no highlight), the result of formulas (grey highlight), Staff and Intervenor input cells (pink/salmon highlight), or cells that should not be adjusted because changes should not flow into the cost of service (for example, fuel costs shown in light blue highlight). All Base Period data provided is from the Company's books and records. However, there are instances of hard-coded cells in the Linkage and Test Periods. For example, certain tax data in Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes and Federal/State Income taxes are provided by NMGC Witness David Avellan and is hard- coded in the COS Model.
    a. Exhibit 5 uses an input sheet called "WP Inputs OM – Gen Tax" to escalate certain O&M expenses and use rates to make certain tax calculations; however, most of these

NEW MEXICO GAS COMPANY, INC.

Instructions for Working With and In the Cost of Service Functional Model

data points are hard-coded. If parties change the escalation factors or rates that are highlighted in orange in column D of this inputs tab, then these changes will flow through the COS Inputs tabs and would change the Revenue Requirement in the COS Summary. See "Instructions and Notes on NMGC Exhibit - 3 - COS" for further the discussions and guided advice on this.

8. Exhibit 4 and Exhibit 5 utilize Excel functions such as SUMIFS to efficiently link data between worksheets or summarize data by individual FERC accounts. For instance, in Exhibit ECB – 4 Rate Base, the Company uses SUMIFS to pull data from WP Plant 3 Gross Balances and summarize Gross Plant by FERC account in the Linkage and Test Periods. Parties should not change these functions because doing so would make the Model non-fully-functional.
9. Certain worksheets utilize the grouping function in Microsoft Excel. The purpose of using the grouping function is to group certain information that is required to ensure functionality, but which results in a voluminous amount of information to be shown in a Microsoft Excel workbook file. An outline is identified in Microsoft Excel with a "+" sign in the row or column. If the outline is expanded, this is identified as a "-" sign in the row or column. A user can expand or collapse the group outline when using the electronically filed cost of service functional model.
10. Certain files are of a considerable size and will potentially cause a computer that is running them to perform slower than normal. Unless a user is making modeling changes, it may be helpful if users turn the calculation option within the Microsoft Excel file to manual, which will increase the speed of navigating through the file. If the calculations are turned to manual,

NEW MEXICO GAS COMPANY, INC.

Instructions for Working With and In the Cost of Service Functional Model

the user must turn the calculations back to automatic once he/she is done navigating the workpaper. The options to change these settings in the Excel file are found under Formulas→Calculation Options. If the user is intending to make modeling changes, it is NOT suggested that the user perform this step.

11. The Model has been built using Office 365 Version 2307. NMGC is not able to verify whether the Model and its functionality will be impaired if a different version of Microsoft Excel is used.

IV. INSTRUCTIONS AND NOTES ON "NMGC EXHIBIT ECB - 3 - COS"

1. Lead Sheet COS: The first worksheet in Exhibit 3 COS entitled the "Lead Sheet COS" is a table of contents for the "COS Summary". This worksheet provides descriptions of the columns in the "COS Summary" worksheet and details the source for the major categories in Cost of Service Model.
2. COS Summary: The worksheet in blue titled "COS Summary" calculates the Revenue Requirement for each period and the RDA in the Test Period. The COS Model pulls data directly from the "COS Inputs" tab within Exhibits 4 and 5. In addition, the "COS Summary" tab pulls data from the 630 Schedules H-8, and H-9 through 12, which calculate tax expenses and tax-related regulatory assets/liabilities[1]. Within the COS Summary, there are a series of calculations to derive the Revenue Requirement and the RDA. The Cost of Service Revenue

[1] The tax calculations pulling from H-8 and H-12 and are not fully functional. Please refer to Company Witness Avellan's background on the tax items.

NEW MEXICO GAS COMPANY, INC.

Instructions for Working With and In the Cost of Service Functional Model

Requirement in row 476 is calculated as the Return on Rate Base + Total Operating Expenses + Federal and State Income Taxes + Revenue Credits + Revenue Tax – Fuel Related Expenses + Other Gas Supply Expenses[2]. The RDA is calculated as Future Test Year Expected Revenue (derived from NMGC Witness Lyons) less the Adjusted Test Year Cost of Service Revenue Requirement.

a. Base Period numbers in Column G of COS Summary are provided from the Company's books and records and included in the COS Summary.

b. Base Period Adjustments, Linkage 1, Linkage 2, and Future Test Year in columns H, K, L, and N, respectively are linked to "COS Inputs" worksheets in Exhibit 4 and 5. As discussed above, certain data is hard-coded.

c. Adjusted Base Period in Column I and Adjusted Test Year in Column P are the sum of each of the two previous columns to account for the adjustments (e.g. 13-month average adjustment).

d. Column R allows parties or Staff to make manual adjustments from NMGC's computed Adjusted Test Period without disrupting NMGC's proposed model and methodology. Parties can either insert values on worksheets that are linked to the "COS Inputs" tabs in Exhibit 4 Rate Base and Exhibit 5 Operations Expenses or manually adjust directly

[2] Other Gas Supply Expenses are added back to the Revenue Requirement because these are expenses incurred by NMGC for certain gas costs (e.g. Labor).

NEW MEXICO GAS COMPANY, INC.

Instructions for Working With and In the Cost of Service Functional Model

i. Parties and Staff can make changes to inputs—such as changing the Cost of Equity rate in 630 Schedule A-5.4 Test or Labor escalations in NMGC Exhibit 5 Operations Expenses—however, these changes will flow directly through column P, where NMGC has computed the Revenue Requirement and the RDA using its proposed methodology. If parties choose to do this, then it is recommended that they save another version of Exhibit 3 with original data points intact or paste the Adjusted Test Year data points as values in another column (e.g. Column Z), so they can effectively compare the Revenue Requirement results. Alternatively, parties can see the effect of changes in the "Intervenor Change Summary" within NMGC Exhibit ECB-3.

3. 630 Schedules A-5 and G-3 Series: The worksheets following COS Summary are the "Intervenor Change Summary," the "630 Schedules A-5 Series" and "630 Schedules G-3 Series" for Base, Linkage, and Test Periods. These worksheets serve as back-up files for the weighted-average cost of capital ("WACC") in each time period. These rates are used to calculate return on rate base in each time period.

[3] There are some data points that require parties to make manual adjustments in Column R. These include the non-fully-functioning items discussed in the Testimony of NMGC Witness Buchanan.

NEW MEXICO GAS COMPANY, INC.

Instructions for Working With and In the Cost of Service Functional Model

a. The Company provides a table in Schedule A-5.4 Test where parties can make adjustments to the WACC that will flow through Column S of COS Summary. Cell G22 flows into column S of COS Summary.

V. INSTRUCTIONS AND NOTES ON "NMGC EXHIBIT ECB–4 RATE BASE"

1. Lead Sheet Rate Base: The first worksheet in Exhibit 4 entitled the "Lead Sheet Rate Base" in green is a table of contents for the entire workbook. This worksheet provides hyperlinks to each of the tabs in the workbook, summarizes and outlines the purpose of each worksheet, and notes which worksheets the tabs provide information to and which worksheets the tabs require information from.
2. WP Plant COS Inputs: The second worksheet in blue provides inputs to the COS Summary for Net Plant in each period.
   a. The Net Plant Balances in Columns E through L are pulled from WP Plant 1 Net Plant Balances.
   b. Columns N and O show the variances between the Adjusted Base Period and the Adjusted Future Test Period.
   c. In Column Q, parties can make manual changes to Net Plant, which will flow through Column R of COS Summary. Because the Company has made Net Plant non-fully functional—i.e. parties cannot change the clearing schedule for specific capital projects or change depreciation rates for certain FERC accounts without submitting a data request or asking for assistance from the Company— it is advised that parties do not

NEW MEXICO GAS COMPANY, INC.

Instructions for Working With and In the Cost of Service Functional Model make changes to the Company's current Plant calculations for the Adjusted Test Year in Column L and only make adjustments in Column Q.

d. In Column T, the Company has provided references to the corresponding WP or 630 Schedule.

3. WP Depreciation COS Inputs: The third worksheet in blue provides inputs to the COS Summary for Depreciation Expenses for each period.

   a. The depreciation expenses in Columns E through L are pulled from 630 Schedule H-7b.

   b. Columns N and O show the variances between the Adjusted Base Period and the Adjusted Future Test Period.

   c. In Column Q, parties can make manual changes to Depreciation expenses which will flow through Column R of COS Summary. Because the Company has made Depreciation non-fully-functional, it is advised that parties do not make changes to the Company's current Depreciations calculations for the Adjusted Test Year in column L and only make adjustments in Column Q.

   d. In Column T, the Company has provided references to the corresponding WP or 630 Schedule.

4. WP Working Capital COS Inputs: This worksheet provides inputs to the COS Summary for Working Capital.

   a. The balances in Columns B through I are pulled from 630 Schedules E (natural gas storage, materials and supplies, prepayments, and cash working capital).

NEW MEXICO GAS COMPANY, INC.

Instructions for Working With and In the Cost of Service Functional Model

b. Columns K and L show the variances between the Adjusted Base Period and the Adjusted Future Test Period.

c. In Column N, parties can make manual changes to the Working Capital Balances which will flow through Column R of COS Summary.

d. In Column Q, the Company has provided references to the corresponding WP or 630 Schedule.

5. WP Other RB COS Inputs: This worksheet provides inputs to the COS Summary for Other Rate Base Items as well as Other Allowable Expenses (Returns) in the O&M section and Revenue Credits section in COS Summary.

   a. The balances and expenses in Columns E through N are pulled from several tabs in Exhibit 4. Use the "Ctrl" + "[" or "Trace Precedents" functions in Excel to trace to the back-up data.

   b. Columns P and Q show the variances between the Adjusted Base Period and the Adjusted Test Period.

   c. In Column S, parties can make manual changes to the balances and expenses which will flow through Column R of COS Summary.

   d. In Column V, the Company has provided references to the corresponding WP or 630 Schedule.

6. 630 Schedules B-1, B-2, and B-3: These worksheets show Gross Plant Balances for the Base, Adjusted Base, Linkage 1, Linkage 2, and Test Periods. The data for the Linkage and Test Periods are pulled from WP Plant 3 Gross Balance. The Test Period Adjustment is derived by taking the 13-month average of Gross Plant from September 2024 to December September 2025 and subtracting the Gross Balance as of September 2025, which effectively creates a credit to Gross Plant. The Adjusted Test Period is the sum of the September 2025 Balance and this 13-Month adjustment.

NEW MEXICO GAS COMPANY, INC.

Instructions for Working With and In the Cost of Service Functional Model

7. 630 Schedule C-1, C-1.1: These worksheets show the accumulated reserve for depreciation and amortization in the Base, Adjusted Base, Linkage 1, Linkage 2, and Test Periods. The data for the Linkage and Test Periods are pulled from WP Plant 6 Accum Res Balances. No adjustments were made to the accumulated reserve in the Test Period other than the adjustment to reflect a 13-month average.
8. 630 Schedule C-2 Depr Rates: This worksheet shows the depreciation rates for the Base Period, Linkage Periods, and Future Test Year. The "Annual Depreciation Rates 2020" are the depreciation rates approved in NMGC 2019 Rate Case (19-00317-UT) and are applied to the Gross Balances in the base period to calculate depreciation expenses and the accumulated reserve activity and balances through August 2023. The "Annual Depreciation Rates 2023" are the depreciation rates provided in NMGC's updated depreciation study that was filed with the Commission on June 30, 2023, and are used to calculate depreciation expenses and accumulated reserve activity and balances starting in September 2023 and through the end of the Future Test Year.
9. 630 Schedule H7-b: These worksheets show the Gross Plant and Depreciation Expenses for the Base, Adjusted Base, Linkage 1, Linkage 2, and Test Periods. As noted in worksheet 630 Schedule H-7b, the Base Period depreciation expense will not be consistent with the

NEW MEXICO GAS COMPANY, INC.

Instructions for Working With and In the Cost of Service Functional Model

depreciation expense in the Income Statement because the expenses accrued for certain expired rights-of-ways are recorded as a component of depreciation expense but are not included in H-7b. Further, the Company makes an adjustment to annualize Base Period depreciation expense in the Adjusted Base Period. There were no adjustments made to depreciation in the Test Period.

10. WP Plant 1 Net Plant Balances: This worksheet develops Net Plant Balances by subtracting Accumulated Reserve (in 630 Schedule C-1.1 Accum) from Gross Plant (in 630 Schedule B-3 Gross Plant) for each FERC account in each month. The Test Period adjusts for the 13-month average of Net Plant. There are no other test period adjustments to net plant balances.
11. WP Plant 2 Clearings: This worksheet has hard-coded values from the Company's planned capital additions, which reflect the Company's forecast of construction projects being placed in service, by FERC account.
12. WP Plant 3 Gross Balances: This worksheet has hard-coded values from the Company's projected Gross Balances by FERC account.
13. WP Plant 4 Deprec Activity: This worksheet has hard-coded values from the Company's projected Depreciation Expenses by FERC account.
14. WP Plant 5 Depreciation Exp: This worksheet develops monthly Depreciation Expenses for each FERC account in each month. The Future Test Year makes no adjustments.
15. WP Plant 6 Accum Res Balances: This worksheet has hard-coded values from the Company's projected accumulated reserve balances by FERC account.

NEW MEXICO GAS COMPANY, INC.

Instructions for Working With and In the Cost of Service Functional Model

16. WP Plant 7 Williams: This worksheet provides information specific to the "Williams Assets" and the related adjustments to adjust the return on these assets to a debt-only return as provided in NMPRC Case No. 12-00264-UT. The calculation of the debt-only return adjustment is linked to the weighted average cost of capital provided in NMGC Exhibit ECB-3 630 Schedules A-5 Series. The values for net plant are hard coded.
17. 630 Schedules E-1, E-2.1, E-2.2, E-4: These worksheets are included as back-up data for the Company's Working Capital balances for the Base, Linkage, and Future Test Periods.
18. 630 Schedules H-7.1, and H-7.2: These worksheets are included as back-up data for rights-of-way balances and related expenses for the Company's Other Rate Base Items for the Base, Linkage, and Future Test Periods.
19. 630 Schedules I-1, I-2, and I-3: These worksheets are included as back-up data for the Company's Regulatory Assets and Liabilities, Other Allowable Expenses, and Revenue Credits for the Base, Linkage, and Future Test Periods.

VI. INSTRUCTIONS AND NOTES ON "NMGC EXHIBIT ECB–5 OPERATIONS EXPENSES"

1. Lead Sheet Operations Expenses: The first worksheet in Exhibit 5 entitled the "Lead Sheet Operations Expense" in green is a table of contents for the entire workbook. This worksheet provides hyperlinks to each of the tabs in the workbook, summarizes and outlines the purpose of each worksheet, and notes which worksheets the tabs provide information to and which worksheets the tabs require information from.

NEW MEXICO GAS COMPANY, INC.

2. WP OM COS Inputs: This worksheet in blue provides inputs to the COS Summary for Operations Expenses in each period.
    a. The operations and maintenance ("O&M") expenses in Columns F through M are pulled from WP 2 OM 630 Sched H1 OM Summary.
    b. Columns O and P show the variances between the Adjusted Base Period and the Future Test Period.
    c. In Column R, parties can make manual changes to O&M expenses which will flow through Column S of COS Summary.
    d. In Column U, the Company has provided references to the corresponding WP or 630 Schedule.
3. WP Gen Tax COS Inputs: This worksheet in blue provides inputs to the COS Summary for General Taxes (i.e. Taxes other than income, or "TOTI") in each period.
    e. The tax expenses in Columns D through K are pulled from the workpapers ("WP") denoted as tax and from 630 Schedule H-8 in Exhibit 5.
    f. Columns M and N show the variances between the Adjusted Base Period and the Future Test Period.
    g. In Column P, parties can make manual changes to tax expenses which will flow through Column S of COS Summary.
    h. In Column S, the Company has provided references to the corresponding WP or 630 Schedule.

NEW MEXICO GAS COMPANY, INC.

Instructions for Working With and In the Cost of Service Functional Model

4. WP 1 Inputs OM – Gen Tax: As discussed in Section II, this worksheet is used to summarize the OM escalators and tax rates for Exhibit 5. In addition, this worksheet can be used to adjust the Company's vacancy and overtime assumptions by adjusting the values in cells D15 through D19. These inputs are hard coded in Excel. If a party were to change these inputs in Column D, then the COS Inputs would change in Exhibit 5.
5. WP 2 OM 630 Sched H1 OM Summary: This worksheet outlines and forecasts the O&M expenses by individual account in the Base, Linkage, and Future Test Periods.
    i. Column P summarizes the Company's O&M expenses in the Base Period. This a formula summing hard-coded Base Period data.
    j. Column Q shows the adjustments to the Base Period. See WP OM 3 Base Period Adjustments for further details.
    k. Column R is the Adjusted Base Period, which is the sum of Column P and Column Q.
    l. Column S removes the amounts that will not be escalated by the standard escalation rates detailed in WP 1 Inputs OM – Gen Tax (e.g. 3.93% escalator) in Linkage 1. Instead, these amounts are separately forecasted in WP 4 OM Separately Forecasted.
    m. Column T shows the net amount of the Adjusted Base Period plus the amounts removed in order to be separately forecasted.
    n. Column U forecasts Column T using the 3.93% escalator.
    o. Column V shows the separately forecasted line items that have been separately forecasted for Linkage 1.

NEW MEXICO GAS COMPANY, INC.

Instructions for Working With and In the Cost of Service Functional Model

p. Column W is the sum of O&M escalated at 3.93% in column U and the separately forecasted amounts in Column V.

q. Column X escalates the amounts in Column U by 1.62%[4].

r. Column Y shows the Linkage 2 amounts for the separately forecasted line items. More detail can be found in WP 4 OM Separately Forecasted.

s. Column Z is the sum of O&M escalated at 1.62% in column X and the separately forecasted amounts in Column Y.

t. Column AA escalates the amounts in Column X by 2.9%.

u. Column AB shows the Future Test Period amounts for the separately forecasted line items. More detail can be found in WP 4 OM Separately Forecasted.

v. Column AC is the sum of O&M escalated at 2.9% in column AA and the separately forecasted amounts in Column AB.

w. No adjustments are made to the Test Period after modeling this forecast in AC.

2. WP OM 3 Base Period Adjustments: This worksheet develops the Base Period Adjustments for WP 2 OM 630 Sched H1 OM Summary. Column U is ultimately brought into WP 2.

3. WP OM 4 Separately Forecasted: This worksheet provides for the Separately Forecasted columns and associated line items for WP 2 OM 630 Sched H1 OM Summary for the Adjusted Base, Linkage and Future Test Periods.

[4] Because Linkage 1 and Linkage 2 overlap from 10/1/2023 to 3/31/2024, we only escalate Linkage 2 items by half of the annual escalation factor for related calendar years. By using this method, we effectively achieve our desired compounded annual growth rate ("CAGR") over an 18-month time period (i.e. 3/31/2023 – 10/31/2024)

NEW MEXICO GAS COMPANY, INC.

Instructions for Working With and In the Cost of Service Functional Model

4. 630 Schedule H-1.1 Summary: This worksheet is a summary of WP 2 OM 630 Sched H1 OM Summary for the Base, Linkage and Future Test Periods by FERC account and provides monthly data for the Base Period.
5. 630 Schedule H-1.2 BaseLink 1 2: This worksheet is a summary of WP 2 OM 630 Sched H1 OM Summary for the Base Period by FERC account and provides monthly data for the Linkage Periods.
6. 630 Schedule H-1.3 Test: This worksheet is a summary of WP 2 OM 630 Sched H1 OM Summary for the Linkage Periods by FERC account and provides monthly data for the Future Test Period
7. WP OM 5 630 Schedule H-4 Labor: This worksheet outlines and forecasts the labor expenses by individual account in the Base, Linkage, and Test Periods. The Base Period is adjusted by annualizing the Base Period using a 5.5% factor from WP 1 Inputs OM – Gen Tax, by adding an adjustment for vacancies, and by removing severances and intercompany labor that is included as part of shared services charges. The Linkage 1 Period is adjusted by annualizing the Adjusted Base Period labor using a 1. 75% factor from WP 1 Inputs OM – Gen Tax. Linkage 2 is adjusted by annualizing Linkage Period 1 labor using a 1.72% factor from WP 1 Inputs OM – Gen Tax. The Future Test Period is adjusted by using a 11.23% factor from WP 1 Inputs OM – Gen Tax and by adding new headcount for additional positions being requested in this case.

NEW MEXICO GAS COMPANY, INC.

Instructions for Working With and In the Cost of Service Functional Model

8. 630 Schedules H-4.1, H-4.2, H-4.3, and H-4.4: These workpapers provide additional information related to compensation and benefits for the Base, Adjusted Base, Linkage and Future Test Periods.
9. WP OM 6 Incentive Comp: This worksheet develops the Incentive Compensation expenses for the Base, Linkage and Future Test Periods.
10. WP 7 OM 401K: This worksheet develops the 401k expenses for the Base, Linkage and Future Test Periods.
11. WP 2 GT Property Tax: This worksheet develops the New Mexico and Native American Possessory Interest Taxes expenses for the Base, Linkage and Test Periods.
    a. Because the Company's property taxes are paid out on a year-lag of Net Plant-in-Service ("Net Plant"), the monthly property tax amounts are calculated using Net Plant from December 31 of the prior year. For instance, the property taxes calculated in 2024 use Net Plant as of December 31, 2023 to develop the expense.
    b. In order to split the expenses between the two entities, the Company developed a tax allocation, where 95% of Net Plant would be allocated to New Mexico taxes and 5% of Net Plant would be allocated to Native American Possessory Interest Taxes.
    c. The Company also developed a composite tax rate for both New Mexico and Native American Possessory Interest Taxes.
    d. New Mexico property taxes are calculated by dividing Net Plant by three, effectively applying a 66% discount on Plant, because New Mexico taxable property values are assessed on a discount for property tax purposes.

NEW MEXICO GAS COMPANY, INC.

Instructions for Working With and In the Cost of Service Functional Model

e. Native American Possessory Interest Taxes are calculated using the full value of Plant (albeit on a one-year lag).

f. The Total Property Taxes are a sum of Native American Possessory Interest Taxes and New Mexico property taxes.

12. WP 3 Payroll Tax: This worksheet develops the payroll tax expenses for the Base, Linkage, and Future Test Periods.

13. WP GT 4 Misc Taxes: This worksheet develops the Federal Pipeline Tax, Federal Excise Tax, Other General Tax, and Commission expenses for the Base, Linkage and Future Test Periods.

14. 630 Schedule H-8, 8.3, 8.4: These worksheets serve as back-up data for the tax expenses.
